Fordyce's August Linen Sale

The buyer of the linens made a master stroke when he made the biggest purchase of linens ever attempted by Fordyce's, some months ago. But little can be said of the linen market where all accounts say no goods and imports in this market are next to nothing. Stocks are going out so fast that it is only a matter of weeks when there will be absolutely nothing in the linen line for sale. Fordyce's now that women do not like near linen or cotton substitutes for linen; they can get the genuine linen at this sale. When you pick up a piece of linen at this store you will not find it near linen or half linen unless it is marked so. Most other linens approaching Fordyce's in quality cost you more because the retailer buys them under the old methods, through middlemen. Fordyce's deal direct. These pure linens are worth coming a long way to see-and to buy. Beauty is evidence of the superb quality of the flax and the perfection of workmanship; the exquisite patterns show the skill that is the result of years of linen buying back of The Fordyce Co.

WOMAN AND STATE RIGHTS Strong-Arm Methods Should Not Be

Resorted To To Get Vote. Let us take for granted that wom-en suffrage is inevitable. Does it follow that the sovereignty of individual states is to be further impaired in order to obtain votes for women at once? The right to vote should be regulated by each state as long as we have states. Who will say today that the fifteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States did any good? To it were due the scandals of the reconstruction period and the evils that followed. Such an amendment to the constitution as the suffragists desire could be adopted in oppisition to the will of the majority of the voters of the United States. If the right to vote and other things connected with it are to be regulated by Congress and amendments to the constitution, some attention might be given to the violation of the principle of representa-tion by population, which is ignored in many states. Rhode Island contains pocket boroughs that outvote the larger city of Providence. If the states are to be forced into uniformty regarding the ballot, let the reformers make a good job of it and clean up everything. Women suffrage is sure to come, but it should be permitted to win its way without resorting to strong-arm methods, such as were used to force the negro vote upon the South. By the time two-thirds of the states have adopted it, serious opposition to it will have disappeared. Thousands favor it who also uphold state rights and the danger is that states upon which it is forced will resist by indirect methods just as some of them practically disfranchise negroes. Whenever and wherever a majority of women want to vote they will get the franchise. As soon as the suffragists win the women to their cause the fight will be over. In order to win it is not necessary to destroy any more of the remaining vestiges of state rights .- N. Y. Commercial.

The first real change in Ford lines within eight years is the "streamline" model, just out. Supplanting the sharp corners, a rounded, streamline hood takes the place of the box-like covering on the new $360 touring car. Instead of the dash shield, the hood comes back from the top of the radfator to the edge of the cowl. The radiator is curved, higher and a little narrower. The front of the machine is no longer angular in appearance. The increased size of the radlator allows more cooling space for the engine. The radiator, instead of being framed in brass, is enameled in black. The name "Ford" is smaller. Crown fenders are flush with the wheels. Hub caps are nickel instead of brass. R. D.
